Lloyd's and its agent are bound by the obligations of the Privacy Act 1988 as amended by the Privacy Amendment (Private Sector) Act 2000 (the Act). This sets out the basic standards relating to the collection, use, disclosure and handling of personal information.

'Personal Information' is essentially information or an opinion about a living individual whose identity is apparent or can reasonably be ascertained from the information or opinion.

Information will be obtained from individuals directly where possible. Sometimes it may be collected indirectly.

Only information necessary for the arrangement and administration of Lloyd's business by Lloyds, its agents and their representatives will be collected. This includes information necessary to accept the risk, to assess a claim, to determine competitive and appropriate premiums.

Lloyd's and its agents disclose personal information to third parties who they believe are necessary to assist them in doing. These parties will only use the personal information for the purposes we provided it to them for (or if required by law).

When you give Lloyd's and its agents personal information about other individuals, we rely on you to have made or make them aware that you will or may provide their personal information to us, the types of third parties we may provide it to, the relevant purposes we and the third parties we disclose it to will use it for, and how they can access it. If it is sensitive information we rely on you to have obtained their consent on these matters. If you have not done or will not do either of these things, you must tell us before you provide the relevant information.

You are entitled to access your information if you wish and request correction if required. You may also opt out of receiving materials sent by Lloyd's by contacting Miramar Underwriting Agency Pty Ltd on (02) 8962 2700.
